1999 Southeastern Chapter Fall Conference

Did you miss it?

A Commentary by the Editor

The 1999 Southeastern Chapter Fall Conference in Raleigh, North Carolina was fantastic! The accommodations were spectacular, the entertainment lively, the lectures informative, the exhibits captivating, the games thrilling, and the food diet-busting. I had my best time ever at any EASA Conference! (Of course, having my wife join me for the first time helped.) She had a blast, and I want to say a special “thank you” to all the EASAns who helped make her feel so welcome. We made new friends, enjoyed the sights, and relished a very special time together away from the kids. ;-)

If you’ve never shared a Fall Conference with your spouse, or worse yet never attended yourself, I urge you to start planning now for the next Fall Conference in October of 2000.

From our new Region IV Director

Once the full realization of the election to this Region 4 directorship is mentally confirmed, things begin to happen almost at once. The total precision of instructions and information coming from our office in St. Louis is overwhelming. Our Executive Vice President, Lynda Raynes, provides in full detail the agenda of the International board meetings, where it will be held, as well as what to wear at all functions. Not just for the board members, but spouses and guests as well. It surely meant a lot for Dee, my wife, and others new to the board who attended.

The pre-convention and the post-convention board meetings in Toronto proved to me just how well run and well organized our Board of Directors operates. Believe me, we are a very well managed international organization.

To date I have voted in favor of accepting fourteen new Associate Members, including three for our Chapter and one more pending follow-up of the inquiry.

At our Chapter board meeting last October, I was privileged to induct Brenda Cole as State Director for the great state of Georgia. Brenda is also our Meeting Planner, a position she handles with verve. We all wish you well, Brenda, knowing we will be well served.

In conclusion, please read all of the information sent to you from St. Louis, and take full advantage of the programs, materials, and EASA Seminars that you receive.

The next International board meeting will be in New Orleans, LA. If there is something you want to be considered or presented at this meeting, just let Region 5 Director Pat Needham or me know and we'll do our best to represent you at the meeting January 28th and 29th next year.

With Best Wishes,
Dean S. Lloyd
Region IV Director
EASA International Board of Directors
